CRAB ORCHARD, LINCOLN COUNTY.

—For goods at very low prices call at W. M. Howard's.

—Born on the 18th inst. to the wife of Eld. J. G. Livingston, a boy.

—Go to E. W. Jones' for drugs, paints, oils, school books and stationery.

—The present cool, wet weather has greatly retarded corn planting in this section.

—W. M. Howard sells goods cheaper for cash than they can be bought at retail in the city.

—We are glad to report Miss Mollie Brooks as improving after a long and tedious illness.

—Mrs. J. H. Hutchings and Miss Mattie Evans have returned home after a pleasant visit to relatives in Danville.

—Andy King sold to W. B. Dillion one-half of work cattle for $100. James Cladwick sold to J. H. Stephens a young horse for $100.

—J. E. Strode sold to J. Uttenheimer his house and lot in town for $1,350; possession given May 5th. Mr. Uttenheimer has taken a good many sixty-day options on lands in this vicinity and proposes to bring purchasers for same immediately.

—We are exceedingly sorry to note that A. M. Eggers, a popular compounder of pills, has thrown up his position in the drug store of J. H. Hixley, as he is likely to leave soon, probably on another prospecting tour to the Black Hills. Mr. Hixley is now assisted by Mr. Thompson, a pharmacist from Cincinnati.

—Mr. Thomas C. White, an old citizen of this vicinity, and a man probably sixty, was arrested upon a warrant charging him with assault and attempting to rape the wife of John Marshall, who lives upon Mr. White's place. White gave a bond in the sum of $250 for his appearance before the police court to day, when the case will be investigated. Mr. White utterly denies the charges.

—The ball at the Springs was quite a success. The parlors were filled with the young, the gay and the beautiful. Mr. J. A. Haldeman and his accomplished wife received the company in a gracious and courteous manner, which at once made you feel a welcome guest. The music and dancing was all that could be desired. Space for bids a special mention of the ladies and their costumes.

If Tom Buford had been hung for the murder of Judge Elliott, if Chittenden had been hung for the murder of a negro, and Phil Thompson had been hung for the murder of Walter Davis, life, person and property would be much safer in Kentucky. It is the evasion of justice that creates a contempt of law. Courts and juries should remember this in making up verdicts and not lose sight of the law. If a Judge of the Court of Appeals was murdered, and a Judge of the Superior Court cowaded for decisions in their courts, may we not reasonably expect that judges of the Circuit Courts, magistrates and even juries will be personally called to account for decisions that may please parties to evict? A law administration of law under the guise of sentimentalitv encourages vicious lawlessness, and who can say to what extent it may go? —[Lex. Transcript.]

Probably the smallest and most unique post office in the world is a barrel which swings from the outermost rock of the mountains overlooking the Strait of Magellan, opposite Terra del Fuego. Every passing ship opens it to put letters in or to take them out. Every ship undertakes to forward all letters in it that is possible for it to transmit. The barrel hangs by its iron chain, hangs and batters by the winds and storms, but no locked or barred postoffice on land is more secure.

The latest estimates place the population of the globe at 1,133,800,000, indicating a decrease in the last three years of some 22,000,000, though as a matter of fact there has been an actual increase of some 33,000,000. This apparent discrepancy is accounted for by the fact that the population of China has heretofore been largely over-estimated.

The United States census of 1880 gives but 64,608 negroes, while the abolitionists number 68,000, backed by 13,071 restaurants, 3,245 distilleries, 16,258 breweries, and 32,453 hotel keepers, in all 133,511 directly and indirectly interested in the traffic. Is it any wonder that temperance is a hard row?

Bronx used in this country is principally brought from Bronx lake, Cal., which, it is estimated, contains 200,000,000 pounds. The lake is one and a half miles long, with five feet of water in the middle during the wet season, but during the dry season is a mere bottomless mud-hole.

Swart Weed and Belladonna combined with the other ingredients used in the best porous plasters make Carter's S. W. & B. Backache Plasters the best in the market. Price 25 cents.

IN MEMORIAM.

Lollie Allen.

At K. M. L., Farmdale, on the morning of the 14th inst., as the light spread over hill top and valley, little Lollie Allen opened her sweet eyes upon an eternal day. The long hours of the night passed away and the succeling child parted with them forever. I shall not forget the scene in that death chamber, or hour after hour we watched and hoped and prayed. The only daughter, the idol of mother and father and brother and cousin, the loved of all lay quietly breathing away her pure beautiful life of twelve short years—near her the stricken mother ministering in many ways that love dictates, speaking of Jesus and Heaven and hundreds of times kissing the pale brow and white lips, the father in agony of grief every few moments touching the dear little hands with the hope that the precious one would return, to comfort his heart; kind, sympathizing friends around, anxious in sooth and help. "Sing some of the sweet songs that Lollie loved," came from the mother's lips, and "Lead Me gently" was sung with angelic sweetness that must have delighted the heavenly hands, waiting to bear the child's pure spirit up. Heaven was not far off and the "Ancient," the Holy One, the Savior was near. It came to pass that "Death is swallowed up in victory," for the loving gentle child, the delight of the home circle, the father's darling, the mother's most precious treasure, the deeply loved of all, was gently led within the shining portals to be forever with the God she loved. The separation from her is hard. The tears flow and the heart is sad, but we know that Lollie is happy, happy forever.

out of a land in whose lowens
Perish and fade all the flowers, out of the land of dews
into the land where fairest of flowers and sweetest and rarest,
Never shall wither away.

Tribute of Affection.

WHEREAS it has pleased the Good Shepherd to gather a lamb from our fold to the green pastures of His own singles land.

Resolved, 1st. That in the death of Lollie Allen, Stanford Female College has lost one of its most beloved members—endeared to all by her gentleness and affectionate nature. Though one of the youngest of the circle, her character was adorned with many of the graces of the true woman.

2d. It is with comfort and joy we remember that she had given her young life to the service of God, by uniting with the church, after confession of His name and desiring to be numbered among His children.

3d. That we offer to her afflicted family our warmest sympathy in this common bereavement and share with them the sweet consolation and glad hope of a reunion beyond the valley and the shades.

4th. That these resolutions be published in the Stanford INTERIOR JOURNAL and Central Methodist and a copy forwarded to Col. Allen and family, of K. M. L., Farmdale, Ky. TEACHERS AND PUPILS, April 21, 1884 Stanford Female College

Whereas the God of love Who directs in His wisdom all things in heaven and on earth has taken from our sisterhood, the "Gamma Sigma" Society, the youngest of our members in the bloom and joy of bright girlhood, and the first one who has been called from our tender bond on earth to that home where "love immortal reigns," therefore

Resolved, 1st. That we bow in humble sorrow to the affliction which a kind Father sent to us, recognizing His overruling providence in all of life's vicissitudes and persuaded that however mysterious His dealings with the children of men may be, he nevertheless "doth all things well."

Resolved, 2d. That in losing dear Lollie we lose a friend, tried and true, a face of smiles that gave us constant joy; a heart that loved us and a sister, whose kind words and whose pledges of unwavering fidelity, will abide in our hearts and we shall endeavor to take them with us until the time shall come to join her in that home in which all the children of the angels, of which ours would be an imperfect earthly type.

Resolved, 3d. That we extend to the broken-hearted father, mother, relatives and friends an assurance that their sorrow is our sorrow, that the blow which falls so heavily on them falls also on us, for we love her too.

Resolved, 4th. That we drape our badges in mourning for sixty days as an outward expression of that sadness which envelope our hearts in saying, "My sister, my sister, a long, long farewell. Farewell 'till we meet again."

Savior of the world, into Thy arms we commit her precious soul.

"Gamma Sigma" Hall, Stanford Female College, April 21st, 1884

Beth T. Hall, aged 4 years, 8 months and 17 days, departed this life on last Tuesday, the 15th inst. None knew him but to love him and he won his way into the affections of both young and old who mourn with the bereaved parents at his untimely death. Father, mother, do not mourn for your first born, for you know that God gave his precious child to the grave and he was resurrected to dwell with the saints above, then take that consolation and meet Robert.

ONE WHO LOVED HIM,

Lyons silk industry in 1883 employed 150,000 persons. The silk weavers receive about 40 cents a day, live poorly and are physically inferior, and many of the younger men are exempted from military service on account of weakness.

Price 25 cents.

The Penitent Old Negro

During the overflow, just as the water was creeping up into the loft of a cabin, an old negro man, dropped on his knees, clasped his hands and prayed:

"Oh, Lawd, I'd jœ like ter know what I've ever done to deserve all dis hear punishment. Lawd, ef yer servant hab ever tuet nothin' what didn't long ter him, an' he's afraid da hab, he's mighty sorry for hit. Water am all right, Lawd, but too much o' good thing makes a man powerful sick."

Just then Col. Milbridge, who owned the plantation, came in a boat, and hearing the old negro, climbed noiselessly on to the roof.

"Lawd, I've tried ter be honest an—"

"Didn't you steal Milbridge's hog?" asked the colonel in a deep voice.

"What's dat, Lawd?" in tones of agitation.

"You know what I said. Didn't you steal Milbridge's hog?"

"Lawd, com' ter think er'bout it, bl'be I did sorta take holder one."

"Old man, there is no use in lying to me. I have been watching you for a long time, and I have decided to punish you according to crime."

"Oh, Lawd, ef ye'll jes' let me off dis time, I never will do nothin' else ter'zerb punishment. I 'knows' dat I've de biggest' thief in de community, an' yer servant craves pardon."

The colonel began to laugh and the old man catching sight of him, said:

"I sees yer up dar, colonel. I knowed it wuz yer self all the time. I never sold no hog nor miflin' else, climbing out on the roof. 'Bless de Lawd, colonel, yer boat amностing erway. Uh, huh. Dat's what's yers git fur tryin' ter'ack de lawd."

Semi-Weekly Interior Journal

Stanford, Ky., April 25, 1884

W. P. WALTON.

The speech of Judge Reid, which is published in Wednesday's Courier-Journal, in which he explains to his fellow citizens, the motives and conflicting emotions that possessed him, the desire on the one hand to go and murder his assailant and the dictates of a better nature urging him to a nobler stand, shows a complete triumph over brute force and exhibits a moral courage of an order very rare in these times, when men believe they must be their own avengers instead of appealing to the law. On the other hand, Cornelison's statement, published in installments, after the manner of a serial story, is everywhere condemned as the poorest effort at a special pleading ever produced. The whole matter in a nut-shell, though he takes column to say it is that he made his brutal and cowardly assault on Reid because he did not use his influence with the Superior Court to secure a favorable decision for him. Such a creature deserves the contempt of all decent lawyers and he ought to be disbarred even on his own one-sided statement. Reid has made friends among the law-loving part of the people, but we fear they are not sufficient in numbers to elect him to the office to which he aspires. The average man, the more's the pity, feels a sort of reverential regard for a bully and a desperado and a consequent contempt for a man who fails to disregard the laws of God and man.

This is an age of beating records and at the rate we are going, we shall soon eclipse everything ever attained or imagined. It was heralded with great flourish of trumpet that an L. & N. train carrying Mardi Gras excursionists had made the most remarkable run from Cincinnati to New Orleans ever dreamed of, and now comes the Cincinnati Southern and so far eclipses that run as to lay it entirely in the shade. An excursion train with Knights of Pythias passengers accomplished the distance 826 miles in 22 hours and 20 minutes, beating the L. & N. just six and a quarter hours, notwithstanding two and a half hours were lost in accidents and delays. Then we read that the steamer Oregon made the trip from Queenstown, England, to New York in six days, ten hours and thirty minutes eleven hours and ten minutes faster than the best previous time. Horses are every moment getting faster and old time is getting left everywhere. This is lively old age, as sure as you are born.

We agree with the Sunday Argus that the bill fixing a penalty against bicyclists running on any of the public roads of the State was inspired by the very worst kind of old fogeyism. It is unworthy of this progressive age and on the motion now pending to reconsider, it ought to be ingloriously tabled. In some sections these vehicles are coming into general use, not only for pleasure but as a means of transit and they should not be shut off by so silly a legislative enactment.

The Bankruptcy Bill, which creates a myriad of officers holders with big salaries and is arranged so that the creditor will get little or nothing after the commissioners, supervisors and others receive their fees and the bankrupt is allowed additional exemptions, to those allowed by his State, passed the Senate by the big majority of 32 to 15. Gen. Williams, to his credit be it said, voted against it.

The party in power has with reckless extravagance increased the net ordinary annual expenses of the Government from about sixty million dollars in 1850, the last year of democratic administration, to near three hundred million a year, together with a collection from the people of over a hundred million dollars more than is needed to pay the public expenditures.

CINCINNATI is at last going to have a hanging. The Supreme Court, after trying months to pick a few in the rulings of the court below, has failed and McHugh, the young wife murderer, will certainly go up May 2d. Perhaps this may be the beginning of a hanging festival, so long needed in that wicked and lawless city.

The Grand Spectacular Festival, averted to take place in the Louisville Exposition building, has been declared off, the Kiraifys jumping their contract. Gen. Dan Macaulay has sued them for $5,000 and attached several car-loads of property they had in the city.

If we are to have a continuation of republican misrule, we would rather see James G. Blaine succeed to the throne than any of the aspirants to the Presidency on his side of the house. Intellectually he is ahead of any of them and a good man in many respects.

The Courier Journal says the Legislature is a dead failure and ought to adjourn sine die, but it seems to be working away just as if it had not been so advised.—[Young, the way of all fools. Was one ever known to take a piece of good advice?]

The L. & N. is going right along, earning $50,000 a week more than for the corresponding weeks of last year. The road is well managed and deserves its constantly increasing patronage.

Luke P. Blackburn has been appointed overseer of a road, and Thatotherfand B. Hayes has been appointed a school commissioner.—[Richmond Register.]

Let the voters of the entire Commonwealth see to it that no member who voted for the extra session of the Legislature is returned.—[Nelson Record.]

The Columbia Spectator, out in a brand new dress, is as lovely as a sweet-sixteen at a May party.

REFERRING to the Richmond Register's editorial on the remission by the Governor of the fine against Miller, who disregarded the local option law, the Herald says in answer to that portion of it which says "a majority of our best citizens, including the Board of Trustees, signed a petition asking a remission," "we have interviewed thirty of "our best citizens"—men who have material interests in the city and are in every respect among the first citizens of the place, whose names we can furnish if required—and we find that only two of the number signed the petition. We find also that the petition was not signed by all of the Trustees, nor all of the other town officers. We might have investigated the matter further, but think this is quite sufficient to substantiate our statement in the previous article."

LEGISLATIVE DOINGS.

The House very sensibly re-considered its action in repealing the fish law and defeated the original bill.

Mr. Talbot has offered a bill to amend the charter of the Danville and Hustonville Turnpike Road Company.

Senator Rigney offered a bill to empower the elders and trustees of the Presbyterian church of Stanford to transfer the lands of the old Buffalo Cemetery, by deed or otherwise, to the Buffalo Spring Cemetery Company.

NOTES OF CURRENT EVENTS.

James G. Blaine is a Catholic, of Catholic parentage on the mother's side.

—Gettysburg, Pa., furnished a hanging Tuesday, John Cogle for the murder of a woman.

—Edmund P. Thomas, for forty years Clerk of the Henry County Court, is dead at Eminence.

—The Mississippi republican district delegates are twelve for Arthur, one for Blaine and one for Logan.

—The customs will be diminished about $35,000,000 per annum if the Morrison tariff bill becomes a law.

—It seems that Frank James has established a pretty fair alibi in the Missouri robbery case at Huntsville.

—The whisky pool troubles are over for the present. All differences have been settled, and the market is steady at $1.10.

—The republicans, who wear breeches, are trying to oust Mrs. Ross from the Newport, Ky., postoffice alleging mismanagement.

—The Lewis county (Ky.) democrats instructed their delegates to the State convention to vote for Tilden and Hendricks.

—Frank Dewalt, the president of the Leadville National Bank, who stole $41,000, looks like a cross between a dude and a bummer.

—A great earthquake occurred in England. Much damage was done to property in various places, and some people were injured.

—President Bennett H. Young officially announces that the Southern Exposition will be opened at Louisville August 16, and will close October 25.

—The Civil Service Reform Association, of Chicago, advocates the repeal of the four year's limitation upon the terms of postmasters, district attorneys, revenue collectors, &c.

—It is claimed that the longest train ever hauled consisted of 132 empty cars, one loaded car, a dead engine and two caboose cars. It was 6,200 feet long and was run on the Pennsylvania road between Clark's Ford and Sunbury.

—The Louisiana election, Tuesday, resulted in the success of the entire democratic State ticket by from 25,000 to 30,000 majority. The Legislature is overwhelmingly democratic.

—Arrangements have been made in New York for the nomination of General Butler for President, and Congressman Reagan, of Texas for Vice President, by the anti-monopoly party, with an understanding with the Greenbackers that they are to support the nomination.

—Cornelison, the cowholder of Judge

Reid, waived an examination for assault and battery and was held to the Circuit Court in $200. His bondsmen were R. A. Mitchell, the mayor, Rev. Thos. Munnell, S. S. Gaitkiss, and others. The case will be hotly prosecuted in the Circuit Court and as vigorously defended.

—The Committee on Pensions has reported favorably on Mr. Wolford's bill increasing the pensions of soldiers who lost an arm at the shoulder from $24 to $37 per month. This merely equalized the class of pensioners named with those who lost a limb at the hip, whose pensions were raised to the sum named some time ago.

—During a performance in a circus at Bucharest, Roumania, the roof of the structure fell. The lights were extinguished and a terrible panic ensued, which was increased by the outbreak of a fire. Five dead bodies and one hundred wounded have been carried from the ruins and a large number of persons are missing.

—Pacey Delehanty, brakeman on the Fairmount, Ky., accommodation train on the K. C. road, requested Geo. Frank a drunken loafer of Butler, Ky., to take his muddy feet off the cushion in the ladies' coach, whereupon Frank drew his revolver and shot Delehanty twice, once in each thigh, producing painful wounds. Frank was lodged in jail at Butler.

—The Louisville & Nashville, Chesapeake & Ohio, and Cincinnati, Ohio & Southwestern, have agreed to sell round-trip tickets to delegates to the Republican State Convention, which meets in Louisville on May 1, at one and one-third of the regular fare, which will be four cents per mile. Tickets will be good from April 28 to May 2, the time to be extended if the convention holds over. The same rate will apply to the Democratic Convention, which meets in Frankfort on May 7.

—The House failed to concur in the Senate's increase of six millions in the naval appropriation bill.

—At Vienna, two men were hung Tuesday, who made a pastime of killing servant girls. Over 20 had fallen victims of their hellishness.

—Ticket number 86,800, which drew $15,000 in the Louisiana lottery, was bought by W. T. Rigg, of Mt. Olivet, and disposed of before the drawing took place to Elbert Montgomery for $1.

—Near Irvine, in Buell county, in trial in a magistrate's court Joe Flinn and Bill Hale, notorious characters, were witnesses. There was an old feud between them. The quarrel was renewed. They drew their revolvers. Flinn shot Hale through the heart. Before he fell Hale shot Flinn once in the head and once in the bowels, either of which wounds would have proved fatal. Hale died in a few minutes. Flinn lived for several hours.

HUSTONVILLE, LINCOLN COUNTY.

—Accident Insurance Companies had better increase their tariff, since racing against time has become a feature in railroad management.

—Indications for the upper Hanging Fork valley, prevailing rains, remorseless mud and a marked tendency to a rising mud-monster—especially in the neighborhood of the saloons.

—Corn is rating here at $1 per bushel, with an upward tendency. Hay is regulated by the ability of the purchaser and the conscience of the seller, together with the number of days required to haul a load oats not to be had on any terms.

—Misses Nannie Brown and Alice Cudell give notice to the lovers of elegant apparel that they are prepared to cut and make to order, in the best styles, all manner of ladies dresses, &c. Orders respectfully solicited.

—Business men in all lines report this as one of the dullest weeks on the calendar. Of course farm operations are at a stand. Planting will of necessity be unusually late. The slate and lumber industries have met with a temporary check, growing out of the expiration of contracts and a weaker demand in the market.

—The pending presidential election bids fair to be as boisterous in its progress and as barbed in its results as any of its predecessors. The practical idea seems to be that it does not matter what character of man may be set up as a figure head at the prow of the great ship of State, provided he keeps his face set in the direction in which the officers wish to go. In other words the best president is he who will form his cabinet according to instructions and distribute offices where directed. Victoria is the best ruler of modern times and she is, governmentally, a nonentity.

The bingle era has almost driven the gold dollar out of circulation. There are less than four thousand gold dollar pieces now in the vaults of the Sub Treasury in New York. These are inserted for the use of Government Paymasters at foreign stations, and within two months past ten thousand bangle fobs made applications for the coin and were sent away disappointed.

STANFORD, KY., APRIL 25, 1884.

SUPPLEMENT.

Printers Errors.

As a class, the manipulators of type may truthfully be called the best and worst shaped men in the world, and without infinite care. Very few outside of the trade know the of the box under which they labor or how ever a faint consciousness of task it, care and patience requires. A subtle correctness is a prime essential to secure public approbation, and how very little is done in the way of assistance. Copy properly prepared is a great desideratum and rarely received. That which is called "good" is often the very reverse. It may be fit to the eye and yet be fit to the sense. The printer does not know exactly what he needs. If he does not know he is subject they may be printed ones, but one who is master of the art tends to lead him into and demand impossibilities. His judgment has been tried in the matter of letters. He knows nothing of "specification" except that he believes he has it in the largest sense to give the printer "particulars" when an error is found. Why six fine print and newspaper can not be made to rhyme like notes of music is beyond his ideas of eternal fitness of the minute matter. According to his views it is the most simple of undertakings to set, make up and work off one hundred pages, more or less, in the most unreasonable short space of time.

Before pouring out the vials of their wrath upon the head of the printer, it might be well for men to pause and consider how much he is to blame. Somewhere in our desultory reading we have met with the statement that any old piece of Mosaic work containing a few hundred pieces is exalted to the skies and pronounced wonderful. It required patience, no doubt, probably taste and study, but carrying out the drift of the article read, how very little in comparison to the tens and hundreds of thousands of still more slender and minute particles the printer is required to handle to make up a paper or book. Take a solid page of the Almanac as an example. It contains some 27,000 "ems," or about $1,000 letters. This is greatly more than any Mosaic known. And they had to be placed without any chiseling or sand-papering, as could be done in the delicate work of table, chair or picture.

Taking this as a basis, calculation is easy as to the amount of type a compositor handles during his hours of daily labor in distribution and setting. Even it is also to conceive how much little fragments of metal will slip out of place, how a letter or space may be dropped, a word spelled incorrectly, a point be wrong, how errors will creep in despite of all care—and the generous public be enraged at the "gross carelessness and stupidity of the printer!"

Errors do occur, we must admit, but they are fabulously uncommon when compared to chances of their being made, and books and papers are immunitary to the correctness of the craft, their swiftness and economy of time, education and never ceasing vigilance.

We write not this for the craft. They probably know the truth of our words. But we do write for multitude of outsiders and with the hope that the simple illustration we have given may open their eyes to the great injustice done to those who "with their nose in the space box," took away their lives for the benefit of the world at large—Bound Printers' Table net.

Mr. Clarence Wood planted a few bushels of artichokes last season and realized a return at the rate of 100 bushels per acre. Mr. Wood says there is nothing preferred to them by frogs, nor anything so remarkably fattening in their tendencies. He will now clear away his artichokes for the express purpose of fattening his swine there on—Advertiser Times.

Not a single Kentuckian ought to offend the Dramatic Festival unless to claim in some emphatic and satisfactory manner recollect the he put out by his newspaper, that it was a Kentucky man which did the mischief. We shall continue to advise and advocate this policy until full reparation is made. —Yankee.

The people of Warren county have voted an appropriation from the county treasury of $1,000 per mile for turnpike roads built in future. This has led to the organization of four new turnpike companies, and it is expected that twenty miles of new roads will be completed this summer.

The Devoted Mother.

Many a poor mother—in an humble cot, with no money or position, has struggled hard to feed and clothe her little ones, to train them to be an honor to their country and blessing to the world. Most of our useful, prominent men came from such homes. Our churchyards are full of such sleeping mothers, whose fondly are folded over their breasts. No worldly eye ever saw the records of their lives, only God and the angels. No tall monuments and high matching epitaphs mark their resting place. What a responsibility rests upon the mothers of this country. Life is too short to be spent in accumulating the things of this world, the most perish. The children do not stay with us long enough to permit us to waste our hours in the pursuit of fashion and gaiety. What we now do we shall reap hereafter. God gives us all another grace and strength to fulfill their duties, so that their influence for good may be felt from generation to generation.

We take very interest in politics of late years and have no opinions to express," says H. B. Hayes. The public is not likely to weep over the suppression of information. Indeed the fewer the opinions of Mr. Hayes the more interesting there seems to be. —New York Telegraph.

From appearances the religious beliefs of possible candidates for the Presidency are to count for considerableness. This is a dangerous contingency. May we never see the day when our politics will divide on a religious opinion, but the possibility grows. —Progress.

"Mr. Jones," said little Johnny, to that gentleman who was making an afternoon call, "Can whisky talk?" "No, my child, how can you ever ask such a question?" "Oh, nothing 'only' mixed whisky was he going to tell you?"

Half a dozen of Herbs—the word cold may be cured if the patient will, soon after taking it, keep warm in bed and eat nothing for a day or two. Dr. Felix H. Wald prescribes fuming for rheumatism.

A Louisville firm sells "Imperial corsets." Talk of locomotives and cyclones, that capriciousness of invention, displaying of hired girls and acting in its proper sphere at the same individual moment.

W. P. WALTON.

BUAINK has a clear majority of Ohio district delegations and of the entire State delegation, even if he should lose the delegates for the State at large. Arthur was not known and Sherman only far enough to emphasize his weakness.

R. S. WILLIAMS, the Covington correspondent of the News Journal, stabbed a fellow named Reed, who attacked him for a publication that appeared in that paper.

The national prohibition convention will be held at Pittsburgh May 21.

The New Orleans Cotton Exposition will receive an appropriation of $1,000,000 from the government as a loan.

It is estimated that during the present century 150,000,000 copies of the Bible have been printed in 226 different languages.

The House has passed the Senate's bill requiring County Attorneys to assist the Commonwealth in all prosecutions in the Circuit Court, for which they are to receive 15 per cent of all the fines and forfeitures.

DANVILLE. BOYLE COUNTY

Mr. John E. Lamb and Miss Ada E. W. Merrill and Mr. C. H. Atkins and Miss Nannie Russell obtained license to marry on the 21st inst.

A fine black two-year-old filly, by Barney Wilkes, arrived by rail on Wednesday night from South West Georgia. She is the property of Mr. Sam Salter and will be trained by Hitebigs & Page.

Mrs. Theodore Linney and Hartwell Perry are fitting up the store room on Third street, lately occupied by the Tribune, and will in a few days open out a fine stock of groceries and confectionaries.

Mrs. Ida and Blanche Tidwell, of Hustonville, have been visiting relatives in this vicinity for several days past. Mr. and Mrs. Thos. M. Green, of Mayville, were registered at Gilcher's on Wednesday. Hon. Jas. R. Burnham, Representative from Madison county, was at the same hotel on Thursday. Capt. W. C. Crozier, the genial landlord of the hotel at Burnside, was at the Clemens House on Wednesday. Col. Joe. Weisgar, of Lancaster, was at the same hotel the same day. Rev. E. B. Hill, of the Broadway M. E. Church, and his bride, nee Miss Zena Parker, of Somerset, are spending a few days at Sardin, in Eastern Kentucky.

R. G. Evans, on the 28th inst., completed the delivery of 114,000 pounds of hemp to the house of C. C. Jacobs, of Cincinnati. The price received was $5.50 per hundred.

On Thursday six prosecutions against H. W. Evans were called in the police court. Four were dismissed on motion of the town attorney and two were tried by J. B. McFerran, special judge, with a judgment for the defendant. Still another case against Mr. Evans was continued until Saturday, with an order of arrest for James W. Guthrie, an absent witness. These are some of the cases several times referred to, which have been pending since last November, in which a detective named Webb, from Cincinnati, was employed to "catch" the drug-store selling liquor. In the same August tribunal, four cases adorned the docket, in which Geo. G. Beddoe was defendant, with the same witness for the prosecution. No 1 was tried before this report closed, with a judgment of acquittal.

A well-apparelled young man of good address, named H. L. Browning, came to Gilcher's on the 21st inst., and registered as from New York. He circulated among horse dealers as the agent of a new fashion ed horse brush and probably took orders for the same. Mosea Gilcher says that he left their house on the night of the 8th without paying a bill of $10.50. Wakefield, Farris & Co., livery stable men, report that he insinuated himself into their affections to the tune of $5.50 for livery hire, promising to send horse brushes, which never arrived, in liquidation of his bill. Other rumors of a like character are afloat concerning the same individual, among them one connecting him with an unpaid hotel bill of $50 due the Capitol Hotel at Frankfort. H. L. was "a mighty sweet man" and claims to have been a student, if not a graduate of Yale.

MT. VERNON DEPARTMENT.

Managed by Jno. B. Fish.

Mr. F. L. Thompson now occupies his new residence on Main street.

Rain has been falling almost without ceasing since Monday morning.

A new postoffice has been established at Mt. Guthrie called Morehburg, in honor of our Jim. Mr. B. F. Button is the postmaster.

Mrs. C. Mullins, of Livingston, was in town this week. John W. Reid, a popular notion drummer, from Louisville, was here yesterday. Gaines Adams and T. T. Wallace went to Point Burnside, Wednesday, to engage in the lumber business. John M. Williams and John H. Williams went to London on a visit this week. S. W. Parris has returned from Cincinnati.

We have seen no call for a democratic meeting in this county yet, suppose there will be none, as Mr. J. S. Johnson has failed, or refused, to recognize the members of the committee elected last year.

Hill posters for S. H. Barrett & Co's show have again made their appearance in our midst. More advertising is being done by this show than by any that has ever been here. Two wagons started out from this place this morning with bills to be distributed throughout the county.

The last rail on the K. C. extension has been put down. About one hundred convicts are at work ballasting the track. It is reported that a passenger train will be put on this road between the 1st and 15th of May. Mr. George Sambrone has been leveling off the ground at Livingston for side tracks and round houses. A new set of larger ties will be laid down from the sinks of Boundstone to Livingston and two tracks will be laid on these ties, as the gauge of the two roads is different.

Lambert Thompson, who stole a lot of clothing from Hart & Co., about three months ago was brought to this place by Mr. Sanders, coroner of Taylor county, and placed in jail. It will be remembered that after Lambert had stolen the goods and was about to be caught, he placed them in a coffee sack and made his son Joe carry them off. Joe was arrested with the goods in his possession, had an examining trial and was held over on the charge of receiving stolen property. Both father and son are now in jail and will no doubt be sent to the penitentiary as the proof is very strong against them. Joe Thompson says he is willing and wants to go to Frankfort for one or two years and that his father ought never to have been turned loose when he was there a year ago.

Wanted to Change.

The case being urged was old Farmer Closegrip vs. a railroad company for damages sustained in a collision.

The old man's lawyer was making a pitiful appeal to the jury—"Gentlemen of the jury," he said, "just gaze upon the true, honest, time-beaten face of my client, and suppose he had been fatally wounded think of the sad blow that his loving wife and little innocent children would have to receive; but thank heaven, it was not so bad as that. But oh! how he must have suffered during those long days of his illness—how the heart-stricken companion of his life felt when they brought him home, bruised and mangled. Now tell me, shall this poor old man go down to his grave a ruined and helpless man without a home and from the cause of his affliction?"

During this delivery Closegrip was noticed to be very much agitated, and rising as the lawyer finished he said—

"Judge, ease my breakin' in, but I must speak."

"Go on," commanded the court.

"I didn't know it were so hot and air in the courtroom as it was," said the man, "I'll—Please—"

"You'll speak when you are called."

"Just raise them fingers on the rail road for a few dollars more to make it even and instead of five hundred, won't ye, judge?"

It is needless to add that the judge didn't.

"I bet'ser," he remarked to a draper on Cutham street, "havin' you a brother in the clothing business in Cincinnati?"

"Exactly. My brother Moses vhas dere."

"And how is he doing?"

"Bad—werry bad. Moses vhas not der man to see opportunities."

"How?"

"Well, vhen dot hood come Moses shound haft been in der rudder cost and pooh-ness, but he vhas left. Den vhen der man took black Moses shound haft been stocked up mit guns und pistols, but he hadn't so much as a trigger. Moses vhas on his vhat to der poohone, le vhat?"—[Wall Street News.]
